

THIRTIETH YEAR

LANCASTER, KY., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 22, 1919.

NUMBER 9.

APPOINTED

Collector John W. Hughes Appoints Col. W. V. Richardson To Splendid Position.

Collector John W. Hughes this afternoon announced the appointment of Col. W. V. Richardson to the position of chief book keeper in the internal revenue office. If he accepts he succeeds Mr. A. B. Brown who retires on the 15th of June. He has been taking special training in the revenue service in Commissioner Roper's office since the expiration of Senator Geo. H. Martin's term and it is thought very likely that he will accept the place and return to Danville to reside.—Danville Advocate.

Don't forget that you can get a good dinner at Mrs. Bogie's just below the Baptist Church, on Richmond street, Court Day.

Preaching at Scotts Fork.

Bro. Don Carlos James, of Louisville, Ky., will preach at Scotts Fork, next Sunday, May 25th, and on Sunday June 1st.

Bro. W. V. Anderson of Stanford, will preach at same place.

Paint Lick Defeats

Hiattsville.

Paint Lick High School defeated Hiattsville on the former grounds last Thursday. Prewitt pitched well for Paint Lick in all but the first inning, when Hiattsville scored three earned runs. In the eighth inning Paint Lick tied the score with a base on balls, and six straight hits.

To Our Friends and Patrons.

We wish to say we have provided sacks to take care of the wheat crop this season. We do not yet know how it will be handled, but we do know we can deal as liberal with you as business methods will permit and you may depend on us for our part in taking care of the crop.

The farmers success is our success, his interests our interests. We will appreciate your calling on us in due time.
Very truly,
22-4t Garrard Milling Company.

Sells Farm At

Good Profit.

Mr. C. R. Barnett who together with Mrs. Barnett moved to this county about two years ago, have sold their farm on the Richmond pike near Hiattsville to Mr. J. I. Hamilton for $250.00 an acre, possession to be given next January.

This farm was purchased by Mr. Barnett about two years ago for $130 an acre, which shows the valuation of land in this county since that time. Mr. and Mrs. Barnett have made many friends since moving into Garrard, all of whom hope they will decide to remain in the county.

Civilian Relief

Conference.

Lancaster is included in the list of cities which have been invited to send a representative to a special Civilian Relief conference to be held at Cleveland on May 23 and 24th by the staff of the American Red Cross, Lake Division, Department of Civilian Relief.

Present day problems of Home Service and its future possibilities outlined in the new Red Cross peace program will be discussed by Lake Division headquarters officials and representatives from Red Cross chapters in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

Public Health heads from the three states and prominent social workers will discuss public health work and the problems of organization to be met in cities and rural districts by American Red Cross chapters.

Dr. Byrne Coming.

J. J. Byrne, who for several years has traveled in Eastern Kentucky, and who joined the Kentucky Association of Optometrists two years ago, has established a thriving business in Danville, Ky.—The Optical Journal and Review, New York, May 15th.

Dr. Byrne will be at the Kengarian Hotel at Lancaster one week, May 26th to 31st.

NC 4 IS FORCED TO DELAY FLIGHT

Engine Trouble Prevents Start of Sea-plane From Azores To Portugal.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Although weather conditions were extremely favorable, Lieut. Commander Albert C. Read was unable to get the sea-plane NC-4 away from Ponta del Gada today for the eight hundred mile flight to Lisbon, Portugal, because of engine trouble, which developed when the ship was being tuned up for the start.

Dispatches to the Navy Department indicated that the motor trouble was not serious, and officials expected Commander Read to get away at day-break tomorrow to complete the first transatlantic journey by air.

Commander John H. Towers, transatlantic flight commander, has recommended that the NC-1, which sank at sea, be stricken from the navy list as "lost at sea" and that the NC-3 be placed out of commission for rebuilding when she arrives in New York. The NC-3 is now being taken apart at Ponta del Gada preparatory to being shipped home.

PRESIDENT

Wants Ban Lifted On Wine and Beer.

WASHINGTON, May 20th.—President Wilson, in his message to Congress today, recommended repeal of the war-time prohibition law—so far as it applies to wine and beer only; announced definitely that the railroad systems and telegraph and telephone lines would be returned to private ownership; urged a revision of war taxes particularly to abolish the manufacturers and retail sales excises; and outlined generally a program respecting labor.

These were the "high spots" of the President's message cabled from Paris. Besides that, he again urged enactment of the woman suffrage constitutional amendment; recommended that the tariff laws be supplied with teeth to protect American industry against foreign attack; spoke for legislation to facilitate American enterprise through the expansion of shipping, and backed Secretary Lane's program for land for returning soldiers.

Of the Paris Peace Conference and the League of Nations the President merely said it would be premature to discuss them or express a judgment. He also avoided discussion of domestic legislation at length because of his long absence from Washington.

Southern Baptist Convention.

The Baptist Churches of Garrard County were well represented at the Southern Baptist Convention which was held at Atlanta, Georgia, May 14-19. Rev. Ellis of Paint Lick, Rev. Sebastian pastor of the Mt. Hebron and Buckeye churches, Rev. Strother of Lancaster, and probably others of Garrard County, attended the Convention.

It was the greatest convention ever held by Southern Baptists. Approximately 8,000 were in attendance. The entire meeting was marked with intense zeal and enthusiasm. The largest financial budget ever attempted by Southern Baptists was planned. The new budget is on a five year basis, and provides $350,000 for the Roger Williams Memorial to be erected at Washington, D. C., $5,000,000 for ministerial relief, and $75,000,000 for education, home and foreign missions. This new budget means that Baptists must give about eight times as much each year, for five years, as they did last year. But this is not impossible. The estimated wealth of Southern Baptists is $15,000,000,000 and if all would give one tenth of their income to the Lord each year, we would give about $1,000,000,000 per year.

There are 1,500,000 Baptists in the South who do not attend Sunday School. There are 8,000 ministers in the South whose salaries average less than $300 per year. There are 60,000,000 people in the U. S. not identified with any denomination. There are 1,000,000,000 human beings in the world without the gospel. These figures speak louder than words, and summon all to intense activity for Christ.

C. D. Strother.

I will serve Court Day dinner and will appreciate your patronage. Two doors below the Baptist church, on Richmond Street. Mrs. J. O. Bogie.

TWO PROMINENT MINISTERS

INSTANTLY KILLED IN AUTO WRECK LAST MONDAY AFTERNOON.

ENTIRE COMMUNITY SHOCKED

REV. W. M. ELDRIDGE OF PAINT LICK, ONE OF THE VICTIMS.

One of the most distressing and horrible automobile accidents that has ever occurred in this community happened last Monday afternoon about three o'clock, when two of the most prominent Presbyterian ministers in Central Kentucky, Rev. W. M. Eldridge, of Paint Lick and Rev. Clyde Sheltman, of McAfee, Mercer county, were instantly killed in the Fox River bridge on the new Lancaster and Danville pike, their automobile turning turtle just beyond the iron bridge on the Boyle county side.

The two gentlemen were returning from Danville and were alone in a Ford Roadster when the accident occurred. The exact cause leading to the accident will probably never be known, as no one actually witnessed the distressing accident. Rev. Eldridge, owner of the car was driving and was not considered an expert for he had only been driving a few weeks and was not considered an experienced driver.

Probably thirty minutes after the accident occurred Mr. J. P. Bourne was returning from Danville and saw the wrecked machine on the roadside and upon investigation found that the occupant was dead and realizing that he could be of no service alone, hurried to Lancaster and brought the first news of the accident. In a few minutes many were on their way to the scene and the overturned machine was lifted from the unfortunate victims and not until this time was it discovered that there were two fatalities.

Friends immediately recognized Rev. Eldridge and only through papers found on the body of the other victim, was it identified as Rev. Clyde Sheltman, of McAfee, Mercer county.

What caused the accident will probably always be shrouded in mystery however it was plainly to be seen that for a distance of fifteen feet or more before the car took the fatal leap over the embankment, the brakes had been applied and the rear wheels locked as patches were torn in the loose metal which had been recently applied to the road.

The car went over the embankment a height of about five feet and turned completely upside-down. Neither of the occupants had never moved and were thrown on their heads, death resulting immediately.

The head of Rev. Eldridge struck a large rock, causing his instant death and the weight of the machine crushed out the life of Rev. Sheltman, as both shoulders were broken and back crushed.

The bodies were placed side by side on the grass near the accident and left there until the arrival of Coroner William Zimmerman, of Danville. Upon his arrival a jury was summoned and a verdict rendered in accordance with the above facts.

The bodies were then brought to Lancaster and turned over to the local undertakers and were prepared for burial. In the meantime the families of both victims were communicated with over phone.

Rev. Sheltman was on his way to Paint Lick to assist Rev. Eldridge in a series of meetings that were to have begun last Monday night. He was forty-two years old and has been the pastor of the churches at McAfee and Salvisa in Mercer county for the past year or more. He was well liked by citizens of that community and was a Christian of high character. He leaves a wife and one daughter, who is seventeen years old and a student of Kentucky College for Women. He was a brother of Mr. Wade Sheltman of the Franklin Printing Company of Louisville. The remains were taken to Louisville yesterday afternoon, where the interment will take place this afternoon in Cave Hill cemetery. The following came up from Salvisa and McAfee and accompanied the remains to Louisville: A. J. Lapsley, J. W. Powell, Nathan Lyons, Abe Sharp, Henry Anderson and T. J. Hudson.

Rev. Mr. Eldridge has been the pastor of the Old Paint Lick church for the past six years and has a host of friends there and over the county that were shocked beyond measure by his tragic death. He was a gentleman and a Christian of the highest type and his passing has cast a gloom over the entire county.

He is survived by his wife and the following four children; two sons, Arthur, who is now with the American Expeditionary Forces in France, and John, both of whom were former students of Centre College. The two daughters are Mrs. Harry Francis, of Paint Lick and Miss Elizabeth Eldridge, who at the time of the accident was visiting friends and relatives in North Carolina.

Reverend Eldridge was about 55 years old and came to this county from Woodford, where for a number of years he had charge of the churches at Troy and Elm's Corner in that county.

Funeral services were conducted at the Paint Lick church yesterday afternoon by Rev. Sanford Logan, of Midway, assisted by Rev. Telford of Richmond. Immediately following these services interment took place in the local cemetery at that place.

One of the largest crowds ever seen at the church attended the funeral, attesting by their presence, the sympathy for the family and the tragic end of this good and greatly beloved man and Christian.

FRED HAM

Dies At His Home In Arizona.

Just in the prime of his young manhood and always enjoying the best of health, Fred Ham, formerly of this county, died at his home in Arizona last Sunday, after an acute attack of appendicitis.

He was twenty-eight years of age and was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ham, of Somerset, Ky. The remains were brought to Somerset yesterday where the interment took place.

He left Kentucky eight years ago and has only been at home one time during those eight years. He was a brother of Mrs. Charles Rankin of this county. He was a popular boy and his sudden passing away will be regretted by his numerous friends. Much sympathy is extended the family in the loss of their youngest son and brother.

HOPE FOR HAWKER IS ABANDONED.

Australian Aviator and his Companion Are Now Given Up As Lost.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 21.—Hope for the safety of Harry G. Hawker and Commander Mackenzie Grieve, missing since they set out eastward through the air on Sunday in their Sopwith biplane for Ireland, was virtually abandoned today by the British officers preparing here to take wing in their wake. News of the safety of the NC-3, after being so long on the water, had been a source of encouragement, but it is recognized that the Hawker-Grieve machine carried only a cockle shell emergency boat as compared with the stout hull of the American naval plane.

Regarding the fate of Hawker and Grieve, some of the airmen here believe the Sopwith collapsed within a short time after leaving St. Johns, and that the wireless had failed. The opinion is gaining ground that held ice and icebergs extending for 100 miles off the coast may have affected the work of the engines through the intense cold congealing the oil. The American airmen who flew to Trepansey from Rockway, N. Y., found that this condition caused them serious inconvenience, disturbing all their engines, some of which virtually burned out from this cause, according to officers abroad the United States supply ship Prairie.

CHAUTAQUA

OPENS HERE JUNE 25th.

Modern Play, "It Pays to Advertise" and big Musical Numbers.

FOUR GREAT LECTURES

League of Nations and Freedom of The Seas to Be Discussed—Five Days of Entertainment and Down-to-the-Minute Features.

A clean modern play, entitled "It Pays to Advertise," the Dunbar Singers and Bell Ringers, the Steely Concert Company and the Lombard Entertainers; great timely lectures—these are but a few of the attractions of the 1919 Redpath Chautauqua scheduled to appear here. The entire five days program is replete with features of compelling interest.

"The League of Nations," "The Freedom of the Seas," and other down-to-the-minute topics, each finds a place in the discussions of the week, thus keeping up the reputation of the Chautauqua as a powerful factor for enlightenment on public problems.

The Dunbar Male Quartet and Bell Ringers will be the attraction on the opening afternoon. For many years a Dunbar Quartet and Bell Ringers company was one of the most popular of Chautauqua and Lyceum organizations. The present company was organized by Ralph Dunbar of the original Bell Ringers and is most worthy to bear the Dunbar name. The members of the Dunbar appear in solos, quartets, and readings and carry 150 hand bells upon which are played some of the best overtures and solo numbers. In order to secure an especially high quality of talent the singers have all been given a four-year contract. The Dunbars will give a prelude at night.

"America's Today Gleaned From Yesterday 'Over There,'" will be the subject of the opening night lecture by Elwood T. Bailey. Mr. Bailey as a welfare worker over seas spoke to several hundred thousand of our soldiers, both in the fighting zones and in our camps. In his lecture he tells the story of the return of the American soldier to his country, the readjustment of the soldier and the problems which confront each and all today.

Extraordinary costumes, some of them imported from Japan, Chinese chimes, something never used on the Chautauqua platform before; a remarkable one-stringed cello and a gypsy camp fire setting are a few novelties which make unique and compelling the program of the Lombard Entertainers who give a full concert on the afternoon of the second day and a prelude at night. This company consists of Harry Lombard and Lela Fairchild Lombard, his wife, and their work is replete with good musical material given in an entertaining and delightful way.

At night O. E. Behymer (Bee'highmer) of the Sheldon School of Salesmanship, Chicago, will lecture on "The Romance of Business." As presented by Mr. Behymer, business is one of the most entrancing of adventures, an enterprise of vital interest to every man, woman and child. This is a lecture which everyone interested in making a success in life should hear. Following his address Mr. Behymer will answer any questions suggested by his lecture.

The Steely Concert Company, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Steely and their 18-year-old daughter, Erynne, will be the attraction for the third afternoon and will also give a night prelude. For more than fifteen years Mr. and Mrs. Steely have been delighting big audiences everywhere with vocal and instrumental specialties. Besides being possessed of excellent voices they all appear in piano and marimbaphone selections. Also Mr. Steely plays the saxophone and concertina. Miss Steely is a pianist as well as a musician and her drawings constitute a feature of the program.

Dr. Vincenzo de Santo, noted Italian journalist and orator, who appears on the third night, will discuss among other world topics the problem of the league of nations. He will also tell of the astounding spirit of modern Italy. Dr. de Santo speaks English perfectly. He is a contributor to magazines and newspapers, both in the United States and Italy, and his lectures are based on a wide knowledge of this and foreign countries. It is at once apparent that

ABERDEEN-ANGUS SALE

Held Last Friday Was Decided Success.

Many Buyers From Distance.

The Aberdeen-Angus cattle sale held by Bradshaw Brothers of this county last Friday afternoon brought out one of the largest crowds ever seen at a public sale in this county.

Prominent buyers and breeders from over the state and from other states were on hand, some of them arriving the night before, so as to be able to attend the State Aberdeen-Angus Association which held its meeting at the Kengarian Hotel last Thursday night.

The Messrs Bradshaw Brothers are to be congratulated upon their first annual sale of this character. Many having expressed the opinion that it was one of the best conducted sales they had ever attended.

The class of stock offered was high in quality, both as to breeding and individuality and the high average of $320.50 for the thirty-seven head that were sold gives one an idea of the class offered.

Even this average is considered very low by the knowing ones as many thought the sale should have averaged at least $400, a head.

Messrs Bradshaw tell us they expect to hold another sale in September and still another next Spring. This should be gratifying to the people of Garrard county, all of who should lend every effort in the promotion of this enterprise.

The following are a few of the sales:

Brookside Blackbird 39th, No. 192157 brought $925.00, purchased by C. E. Marvin, Paynes Depot, Ky.

Beckwith Blackbird Lady, No. 214005, to C. E. Marvin, for $690.

Fairy Belle 2nd, No. 248272, to H. F. Hill, Lexington, Ky., $350.00.

Very Beauty, 4th, No. 195605, Harry Frye, Hubble, Ky., $310.

Lena Brent, No. 156317, L. T. Bradshaw, Lancaster, Ky., $350.

Nellie Dean, 4th, No. 232276, Harry Frye, $325.00; Daisy Deun L. 2nd, No. 195600, W. L. Neal, Moreland, Ky., $350.00; Pauline Belle 2nd, No. 168148, R. L. Kelly, Bronston, Ky., $410.00.

Brent Beauty 2nd, No. 195602, L. T. Bradshaw, Lancaster, $500.00; Vivian A. 2nd, No. 214084, Harry Frye, $325.00; August Mary 2nd, No. 150416, H. P. Stevenson, Hustonville, Ky., $350.00; Gnat 10th, No. 268005, L. T. Bradshaw, $350; April Showers, No. 259387, L. T. Bradshaw, $350.00; Effie Belle 8th, No. 195590, John M. Amon, Lancaster, Ky., $350.00; Fair-lanil Prima Donna 5th, No. 163272, Sanders Brothers, Lancaster, Ky., $320.00.

Other purchases were made by George Ballard, Paint Lick, Ky.; S. A. Hill, Lancaster, Ky.; James Woods, Stanford, Ky.; Andrew Hemphill, of Nicholasville, Ky.; Jones Baughman, Stanford, Ky.; J. I. Hamilton, Lancaster, Ky.; Tom Hicks, Lancaster, John Rankin, Lancaster, G. M. Ballard, Harrodsburg, J. W. Herndon, Berea, and Dr. Printus Walker of this city.

The day is coming when all of us who can afford trips to Europe will engage our passage in an airship. Besides speed we shall probably get good ventilation.

Dr. de Santo's lecture is one of the big features of the week.

Dr. E. T. Hagerman will lecture on "The Man With One Window," on the fourth night. For twenty consecutive years Dr. Hagerman has appeared as a lecturer on the Lyceum and Chautauqua platforms and "The Man With One Window" is considered to be the strongest address of his career. Dr. Hagerman has a message and he presents it in a clear, forcible, pleasing manner.

On the afternoon of the fourth day the Artists' Company will give a concert of vocal and instrumental music of exceptional merit. The same company will give a prelude at night.

At night, on the fifth day, the aid-aplitting American comedy "It Pays to Advertise," will be presented by a company of eight. This is a play which was extraordinarily successful in the great metropolitan centers and likewise on Chautauqua. It is so well balanced in human values that it cheers the heart and diverts the mind at the same time. Last year on one of the big Redpath Seven Day circuits "It Pays to Advertise" proved to be one of the biggest features of the whole week. This clean, rollicking comedy will be a fitting finale to a great program.

HIGHEST QUALITY AWARDS

BUY COAL

Future Outlook For The Coal Situation is not The Best.

The Record takes the following article from the magazine known as "Coal Age" and the same should be carefully read by the buying public: Consumers of coal have a short memory. Every possible effort must be made right now to point out the dangers that will arise from permitting coal stocks to be depleted. In the coal consumption of about 5,000,000 tons. The slowing down in industries and the lessened demands on transportation are responsible for a further decrease in coal consumption of approximately 6,000,000 tons per month. The production of coal during January, compared with October, the last month of the war, showed a falling off of about 16,000,000 tons. The February decrease will be still greater. It is evident, therefore, that the falling off in output is considerably greater than the decrease in consumption. If this continues, a serious situation will arise.

Every effort should be made to get consumers to buy coal in moderation right now. If this is not done, prices are certain to go higher. The public has been misinformed. It has been told that if purchases were delayed, fuel prices would come down. Instead there has been an increase in the selling price of the higher grade coals.

Costs Money to Use Chair.

There is a "public house" in Danville where may be seen an old armchair alleged to have been invariably used by the poor Burns when he visited the place. All who sit in this chair are required to "treat" all who may be in the room at the time.

Pilgrims' Hours of Relaxation.

Sober, rather than dour, the Pilgrims knew the rudiments of social relaxation. The upper ranks or gentlemen delighted in evenings of conversation on suitable themes, enlivened with moderate portions of wine, beer or ale, and one reason why they did not indulge this taste often was the expensiveness of emulles and the long hours of work.

Why Diamond is Prized.

Of practical uses the diamond is not quite destitute — it is, for instance, the best of all abrasives — but these practical uses have almost or quite nothing to do with its popular esteem. That rests first on the poor claims established by cost and scarcity, and second, on the survival in human beings of the ancient and savage delight in hanging about and fastening to the body bits of stone and metal that are brightly colored or shiny.

NOTICE

Of the Sale of Telephone Franchise.

The City Council of the city of Lancaster, Garrard County, State of Kentucky, do ordain as follows:

Sec. 1. That there is hereby created and established a franchise or privilege to erect, operate and maintain a telephone exchange embracing central office apparatus, telephone poles, fixtures, cables and wires along, through, over and under the streets, sidewalks and alleys of the said city of Lancaster, Kentucky.

Sec. 2. The said franchise or privilege shall continue for the period of ten years from and after the time the same shall take effect.

Sec. 3. The purchaser of said franchise or privilege may assign or transfer the same.

Sec. 4. Said poles, fixtures, cables and wires shall be erected and maintained in a substantial and workmanlike manner; said poles shall be neatly painted and shall be so located as not to interfere with the legitimate entrance to any adjacent private property nor to obstruct the free use of said streets, sidewalks and alleys for the purposes of public travel.

Sec. 5. The purchaser of said franchise or privilege, his successors or assigns, shall promptly replace all paving and macadamizing that may be disturbed by said purchaser in setting said poles, and shall at said purchaser's own expense remove all dirt and debris that may arise in making excavations for that purpose. All work of setting poles shall be done under the supervision of the street committee, and it shall be the duty of said committee to see that the provisions of this ordinance are faithfully complied with.

Sec. 6. The city of Lancaster shall have the right to place, maintain and operate its fire and police wires upon poles of said purchaser (within corporate limits of said city) free of charge, provided said wires shall be so located upon said poles in such a way as not to interfere with the wires of said purchaser. The purchaser agrees to furnish, free of charge to the city of Lancaster, three long distance Pay Station telephones with metallic circuits, to be placed where directed by said city within said city.

Sec. 7. If after said exchange is established, said purchaser, his successors or assigns, shall fail to perform all terms and conditions of this ordinance, said City Council may, after giving said purchaser, his successor or assigns, reasonable notice of such failure, and such failure is not remedied, revoke all rights and privileges herein granted, and cause all poles, wires and apparatus erected under this ordinance to be removed.

Nothing in this franchise shall be construed so as to give the purchaser, his successors or assigns, any exclusive right to the privilege granted in Section 1.

Sec. 8. The rates to be charged for telephone service in residences shall not exceed the sum of $1.65 per month and the charges for business houses and offices shall not exceed the sum of $2.15 per month and all subscribers of said telephone shall have free service on all telephone lines throughout the County of Garrard, and also through the Hubble exchange.

Sec. 9. Work on all said telephone plant shall be commenced in good faith within thirty days from the date of sale and acceptance of the bid for same and shall be completed within six months from said date by the purchaser or purchasers of said franchise.

Sec. 10. Within ten days after the approval and publication of this ordinance, it shall be the duty of said City Council through its Mayor to advertise in the Central Record, the only newspaper published in the City of Lancaster, Kentucky, and having a general circulation therein, for two consecutive weeks, that bids will be received at public outcry for the before mentioned franchise or privilege and said Mayor shall according to such advertisements receive such bids, and report same to said City Council at its next regular meeting, and said City Council shall award such franchise or privilege to the highest and best bidder, subject however to the approval of said City Council. Said advertisements shall reserve the right to reject any and all bids. The bidder to whom such franchise or privilege shall be awarded shall pay the amount of such bid in cash, or by duly certified check, to the treasurer of said City of Lancaster, Ky., within ten days after said franchise is awarded.

This ordinance shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage and publication. Pursuant to the foregoing ordinance the undersigned Mayor of the City of Lancaster will offer said franchise for sale at Public outcry to the highest and best bidder in front of the Court House door in Lancaster, Ky., on Saturday May 31st, 1919, at 2 o'clock P. M., in accordance with the terms and conditions thereof.

Given under my hand as Mayor, this May 15th, 1919.

J. M. HUNGAN, Mayor.
Harry Anderson, Clerk.

KHAKI COLUMN

The letter below is from Squire T. Whittaker, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Whittaker, of the county, and will be read with interest by his numerous Garrard county friends, among whom he is very popular.

"Dear Father and Mother and family, I will this lonesome evening write you a few lines to let you know I am well and hope this will find you the same. We are having some fine weather here now and I don't mind it like I did while it was so rainy. It has not rained here any for five days and it looks as if spring had really come. From what the papers say, you have had a very mild winter there this year. I haven't seen any snow this year. One evening it snowed for about half an hour and then began to rain.

I have been on a seven days leave and sure had a fine time, too. We were in Spain for about 25 miles, the place we went was on the border and so we went on into Spain. This makes five different countries I have been in, Scotland, England, France, Spain and Holland. Now if I get to go to Belgium I think I will be satisfied this trip, and take it from me, I don't think I will ever be in them again, if it is left to me for I ever get to the States again I think I will stay there. There are some fine countries here and then there are some that are not so fine. I have seen some that were awful. The place where I was on my leave there were some high mountains, higher than I ever saw before. Lusher was the place and it was in the Pyrenees mountains, but we sure had a fine time. Just think of being in a big hotel and laying in the bed, and having a Mademoiselle bring your meals to you and we didn't get up for anything only when we wanted to.

That was seven days spent that I lay in bed and had all the sleep I wanted, but those trains they have here, side-door pullmans, the boys call them. They are labeled to hammocks or 8 cheneaux and some times I wished I was a horse so there would be only eight of us in them, for we were crowded in them and no place for any heat or light.

Yes Millard is on the same thing as I am and he is close to Towels, I have been there but didn't know at the time that we were close together.

I have been in Paris but only stayed a few hours, but I have applied for a three days leave to go there and if I get it I am going up there again.

Well you were asking when I would be home. I don't think we will be there for some time yet but I am having a fine time here as long as I stay on guard duty I am satisfied only have eight hours a day of it but it comes every day and I know every day what I am going to do. You were talking about me being at the front. I never was there while they were having any fun, but was there a few days after all was over we went up there to do some work and there were a few of them still there and from the looks of them they are still there too. A lot of the boys from this outfit were there but as I was not D. S. I was not one of the lucky ones to get to go and some of them that went are still there. I think when I get home this time I will be in Kentucky to stay for I have all of it I want now, and am satisfied for life.

Well I guess I had better close for this time as it is time for me to go on duty but will write more in a few days. Hoping to hear from you soon and that you are well. Give my love to all. As ever,

Pvt. Squire T. Whittaker, Hqs. Co. 409, Engineers, A. P. O. 701, A. E. Forces, France.

Cruise Overlooked a Bet.

That Robinson Crusoe, in spite of his well known resourcefulness, overlooked a fine business opportunity is shown by the fact that the island of his adventures, Mas-a-Tierra off the coast of Chile, is now the seat of a large bi-ster-canning industry. Crusoe seemed to think he was doing remarkably well to pick up the necessities of life on that island—and most of them were washed ashore from a wreck at that—but his modern inhabitants do a rushing business in the export of luxuries.

REGULATION OF TRAFFIC IN EGGS

State Board of Health Provisions For Handling of Hen Fruit Effective Now.

By virtue of authority vested in it by law, and on account of the importance of fresh, sound eggs as a food product, the State Board of Health, at a meeting held in Louisville, March 6, 1919, adopted and ordered promulgated the following rules—regulating the traffic and handling of eggs to be used for human food in the Commonwealth.

Rule 61. Between May 15th and January 15th of each year, all eggs in the market, or intended for market, shall be handled only on a candling basis, and no payment either in cash or merchandise shall be made for those unfit for food. A statement shall be made in duplicate by the buyer of each purchase of eggs, showing the number of good, damaged and had eggs in each lot, one copy of which shall be given to the person from whom the purchase is made and the other to be kept on file one year, and subject to inspection at all times by any health or food inspector.

Rule 62. During the warm season all eggs shall be kept in a cool place, all lots of greater than 30 dozen shall be packed in strong, standard egg cases and fillers, well protected from breakage, all cracked ones being packed in separate cases from those with sound shells. From May 15th to January 15 of each year, each case of eggs shall contain upon the top layer a properly dated and signed candling certificate.

Rule 63. No person, firm or corporation shall sell, offer or expose for sale, or have in possession for the purpose of sale, any eggs unfit for human food, unless they are broken in the shell and then denatured in such a way that they cannot be used for food. An egg shall be deemed unfit for food if it be mottled or moldy, have black or white rot or a blood ring, has a bloody, white or adherent yolk, or if it consists even in part of a filthy, decomposed or putrid substance. Any person violating any of these rules or provisions will be subject to the pains and penalties provided by the statutes.

I hereby certify that the above is a correct copy of the rules on the subject indicated, adopted by the State Board of Health at a meeting held at the Seelbach Hotel, Louisville, on March 6, 1919. Witness my hand and the seal of the Board, this April 2nd, 1919.

Double Appreciation.

Jackson Times: "Now is the time when the country newspaper men are receiving letters from men they do not know, and possibly never heard of, stating the writer is a candidate for some State office and any aid the editor can bestow will be greatly appreciated. Yes, no doubt it would. On the other hand any aid these politicians can bestow the editor to recoup him for space used in his paper would be appreciated."

$15,000 Life Insurance.

Herkshire Hamlett carried a large life insurance for the benefit of his wife and children. Policies in force at the time of his death are known to amount to $15,000 while there is another policy of $3,000 which was in force a year ago. Hamlett, who was once a prominent educator and State superintendent of education threw his life away, drinking himself to death. His wife was suing for divorce and a court decree to prevent the disposition of his property. He was only forty years old. Good thing somebody kept his life insurance alive.

Aid in Self-Mastery.

It is a good practice for people to make a practice of doing something every day for their development, that they don't want to do, and then to deny themselves every day something they want. This should not be for a day, a week or a year, but a life work. In no other way can a man become master of himself.—Dr. J. H. Telden.

At Camp Taylor.

We were holding the Paris-Metz road, and the Germans kept trying to advance. I'll say the road was torn all to hell. Mud and holes and boulders, piled up, stinking when the sun hit them. It lasted twelve days for me, then I got hit. Six days the Germans came at us, and six days we went at them—hand to hand. Sure, with the bayonet. Had to use my bayonet or get their. Besides, it is not hard when you see your good friends going down all around you.

Lionel D. Sampson, of Shelbyville, 5th Marines, 18th Company, wears the Croix de Guerre, the palm meaning seven distinct citations, and the highest regimental decoration, the cord of the Legion of Honor, given the 5th and 6th Marines in Paris on July 4th, 1918. He has been in France eleven months, has been wounded three times and seen action at Verdun, Soissons, Chateau Thierry and Belleau Wood. Sampson is an engineer, but enlisted with the marines, altho he is not yet 21, in order "to get in the fight right away".

The work of the 2nd Division, of which the 5th Marines is a part, is known thruout the world, and not for nothing has the name of Belleau Wood been changed to "The Wood of the Marines." Sampson was in that fight twelve days.

"It was a steady show," he said. "The shells were coming over all the time. I've seen things I never will tell. At night we dug holes with our bayonets or anything we could find, and slept there, if we could. After twelve days of that, I was gassed, put on my mask, but there was a bullet hole thru it, so I got the stuff. At the same time I was shot in the thigh. The men were going forward all the time. They couldn't stop. We were going thru a wheat field, and I could hear the bullets hitting the wheat. I fell down in that field and lay there seventy-two hours. It's hard finding people in green wheat. Part of the time I had convulsions, and the rest unconscious. When I woke up I was in a hospital at Bordeaux."

Sampson was in the hospital a month, and one week after he was out he was back on the line again.

"I joined my company, that was in reserve, a few miles from Soissons. On July 14 we got into French trucks and went to Soissons. We got out at about 7 o'clock at night and started to march up to the line. I'll never forget that. It was pouring rain, and cold, and the road was nothing but holes and mud. At 4:15 we went over. They were ready for us with machine guns, all right, but we went ahead. The Marines always went forward in a straight line."

Sampson has brought home with him many relics, including German bayonets, masks, bullets and a ring which he took off the finger of a dead man. But he is prouder of a sheet of thin paper, typewritten, which he carries in his inside pocket, than of anything he has brought from the other side. This is a copy of an army order describing the achievements of the 2d Division and given to every man in the division. The concluding paragraph follows:

"This division of fighting men is unsurpassed in valor, in skill, in endurance, in determination to conquer and in service to the cause of the allies."—Louisville Herald.

Kills Chestnut Trees.

A fatal disease, which came originally from Europe, is killing the chestnut trees in the forests in the Eastern States. It is spreading westward from Pennsylvania into West Virginia and Ohio. As the laws of Kentucky make no provision for a quarantine against the importation of diseased plants, it will be necessary for the people of the state to stop buying or planting chestnut trees. The specialists at the Experiment Station state that the danger is especially great as all chestnut trees, both native and foreign, are liable to the disease.

Bronchial Coughs—

For quick relief from wearing bronchial coughs that "hang on" and weaken, for thick wheezy breathing, irritated throat and air passages, for sleep-disturbing night coughs, take Foley's Honey and Tar.

In it, you quickly get the curative influence of the pine tar and other healing ingredients, together with the mollifying and lessive effect of honey.

Foley's Honey and Tar is also good for croup, whooping cough, tickling throat and hoarseness. It does not contain morphine, chloroform or any other injurious drug. It is not a substitute.

"My wife contracted a severe cold which finally developed into bronchial trouble. She coughed almost continually. The remedies we tried gave only temporary relief. I happened to pick up one of Foley's Family Almanacs and as a result, purchased a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar. She had not used half the bottle when her cough began to slack up, and she could rest so much better at night. She continued using it until she used 7 bottles, which effected a permanent cure." Like the humble cent, the increased volume of which was recently mentioned in this column, the nickel is in greater demand than ever. FARM STOCK

CATTLE SCAB IS CONTAGIOUS

Disease of Skin Which Affects All Animals Can Be Eradicated by Dipping and Spraying.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Small insectlike parasites, commonly known as mites, are responsible for cattle scab, a contagious skin disease affecting cattle of all ages and conditions. There are several forms of the disease, known by such names as "scab," "mange" and "itch." Though the disease itself may not cause death directly, it is responsible for serious losses by causing a shrinkage in the weight of animals, failure of young stock to thrive and gain weight normally and by increasing the death rate of poorly nourished animals of poor vitality, especially range cattle exposed to inclement weather. Cattle scab can be eradicated by dipping or spraying, dipping being the most reliable method, and lime-sulphur, kerosene and crude petroleum dips can all be used with success.

In the western part of the United States, especially where cattle graze on the open range, the losses caused by common scab have been a serious drawback to the live stock industry. It has been greatly reduced and brought under control, but has not been entirely eradicated from the herds of the Western states, and it is important that control measures be practiced continually to completely eradicate the disease and prevent it from again becoming prevalent.

The mite which causes common cattle scab may attack any part of the body covered thickly with hair, but the first lesions usually occur on the withers, on top of the neck just in front of the withers, or around the root of the tail. From these points it spreads over the back and sides, and unless checked it may involve practically the entire body. The mites attack the skin to obtain food, and in so doing probably introduce a poisonous secretion. A slight inflammation is caused, followed by intense itching. In the advanced stages of the disease large scabs are formed which frequently are stained with blood. The disease should never be allowed to reach this stage, however. In the early stages it yields readily to proper treatment, and heavy losses can be avoided only if the disease is taken in hand early.

While cattle scab can be cured by spraying if the work is done properly, this method is recommended only when the number of cattle to be treated is not large enough to justify the owner in providing a dipping vat. Dipping, however, which consists of immersing animals in a medicated liquid that will kill the parasites, is the only method recognized by the Bureau of Animal Industry in the official treatment of scabby cattle. All animals in the herd should be treated, regardless of the number showing lesions of scab. One dipping generally is sufficient for cattle which have not been exposed to infection but upon which the disease has not yet become apparent. Infected cattle require two or more dippings, according to the variety of the disease present.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

It pays to care well for any animal we keep.

Succulent feed is important any season of the year.

From an economical point of view, it is best not to crowd the horses when first beginning the spring work.

When the sow is about to farrow she should be confined in a rather small area, with a clean, dry bed in a well-sheltered spot away from drafts.

A Kleptomaniac

By T. B. ALDERSON

(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)

I was heartily sorry when I made the discovery of a regular and persistent shoplifter in the Modern Idea department store. There could be no doubt as to the identity and guilt of the suspected one. She was a pretty, graceful girl of about twenty. Her winning smile and kindly eyes at once attracted the good will of the various sales clerks with whom she came in contact. For days before I detected her in her systematic pilferings I had casually, and then interestedly, observed her, and I could not get her out of my mind and was duly shocked and sorry when I saw her one afternoon slip a dozen face collars off the counter into a muff she carried.

Peculations at the Modern Idea had become so flagrant that its manager came to the detective agency where I was employed and stated his case. He had in his hand an array of figures showing a long list of goods missing from inventory and certainly never sold.

"It is only occasionally that our house man catches a shoplifter," said the manager. "Those detected are generally poor persons, novices in the line, and rarely repeat the act of stealing. Their system is clumsy, the goods taken are of little value and detection and detention give them a good scare and they rarely trouble us again. It is the bigger thefts that give us concern. When three or four ribbons, or bracelets, are lifted in our jewelry department, reaching high values, when five fur coats are found missing in a week and not the slightest clue to the thief is discovered, it is then that we wake up and take serious notice. These higher-ups in thievery are the pests we aim to eradicate. It is a question with us if they do not belong to a skillfully trained, organized band, and to break them up is our great purpose in view."

I don't know how it was, but although I was hardened against the professional criminal and consistently severe with such, there was born in my heart a sympathy and an interest in this fair kleptomaniac that led me through strange mental perturbations. It got so that I began to look for her daily, not as a person I was employed to run down, but as might a lover for the object of his devotion.

She came to the store regularly three times a week and always at the same time, remained nearly two hours and made a regular business of her pilferings. There was nothing stealthy in her methods. Her pretty face and bright, pleasing ways disarmed all suspicion on the part of the clerks. On one occasion I noticed her transfer from a box half a dozen pairs of gloves to her capacious muff right before the eyes of the clerk, whilst she was chatting pleasantly with the floor manager, and then, as she turned away safe with her spoils, there came to her face a smile of such supreme satisfaction that it appeared as though the zest of theft was to her the keenest enjoyment.

It had become my duty long before the end of a month to report and arrest this clever and apparently professional shoplifter. I had jotted down details of over twenty specific pilferings, running from a bolt of precious lace to a package of needles. My mind had become so filled with the girl and her doings that there was a sort of fascination about it all. I shadowed her to her home one evening. She had a room in a respectable apartment house, but when I guardedly explored her status there all that I learned was that she was Miss Alice Leslie, that she had no friends or associates, paid her way reliably and spent most of her time at home reading and writing.

One day I had followed her from floor to floor of the big store and she was talking with a clerk at one of the counters and had incidentally secreted several articles in some secret pocket in her skirt, when an alarm of fire rang through the place. Almost immediately dense clouds of smoke filled the room where we were. There was a rush for the stairway. She was caught in the swirling mass of frightened human beings, borne off her balance and stunned by the fall. I saved her from trampling feet, carried her beyond the peril of suffocation and received her grateful thanks when she had recovered. I cultivated the acquaintance thus made and within a week was a guest at her home.

I was shown to her apartments when I called a little later on. She left her rooms on an errand to a neighbor and I sat alone awaiting her return. My attention was directed to an open desk. I noticed a written sheet. There was a list of every theft in which she had been involved at the Modern Idea, with audacious details as to the articles and their value.

When she appeared a strange impulse seized me. I could no longer endure the strain I was under. Love battled with duty. I told her who I was and my entire interest in her.

She flushed when I indicated a hopeless love. She smiled whimsically as she uttered the words:

"Detected at last! Why, you have spoiled a pretty story. Mr. Arlington! In two more days I would have finished my story in a daily newspaper. 'One Month as a Kleptomaniac!'"

I understood and was overjoyed—more so when our budding friendship expanded into the realm of fervent mutual love.

Lancaster, Ky., May 22, 1919

For Congressman.

We are authorized to announce CHAS. A. HARDIN, of Mercer county, a candidate for Representative in Congress in this, the Eighth Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

(Shelbyville Record).

Regretting that Shelby county is not to furnish the new Eighth District Congressman, the Record rejoices that he is to come from the great good county of Mercer, where Kentucky itself was born, and that he is to be Mercer's so distinguished son.

Judge Charles A. Hardin was, as the Lancaster Record early put it, the "logical candidate" from the start. For while the other gentlemen spoken of for the vacancy were the "favorite sons" of their respective counties, Hardin was and is the "favorite son" of the 13th judicial district made up of several of the best and biggest counties in Central Kentucky. He, unless we badly miss our guess, is or soon will be the "favorite son" of the Eighth Congressional district, and the most popular congressman the district has had since before the civil war. The latter is said after carefully weighing our words, and with realization of the great and good qualities of his predecessors, all of whom, strange to remark have already "passed on".

Judge Hardin will soon be declared the democratic nominee, for under the call for the democratic primary election, the sub committee is to meet and call off the primary and name the nominee in case there was only one entry by noon of May 21st, when there was only the one entry.

The special election, called by the Governor, under the Federal Constitution, for filling the vacancy caused by the death of Representative Helm, will occur on Saturday August 2. That is also State Primary Election day, and it may be arranged, there seeming to be no provision of law against it, to save the state several thousand dollars it would cost to hold a separate election, by having the same officers (two democrats and two republicans) who conduct the primary to also conduct the special election of Congressman, the only necessary extras being a separate book of ballots and a separate ballot box. This is a detail, however, that will have to be decided upon by the county sheriffs whom the Governor has directed to hold the election, and who will doubtless confer with the Attorney General, as to whether they should open separate polls and provide for separate election officers as well as ballots and boxes.

However the election is held, the Democratic nominee will, for reasons that are apparent, be overwhelmingly elected; and, if he has republican opposition, by an increased majority that will carry good cheer to the democrats of the state and the nation as well.

THE ABSTRACT AND THE CONCRETE.

A fairly harmless form of diversion consists of arguing the question "Who won the war?" Perhaps even we in Lancaster can hardly claim immunity from the epidemic. On our streets and in our corner stores we are liable to see exhibitions of this popular form of relaxation.

When Swedes and Scotchmen get together—Poles and Italians—the question is likely to be debated with lively vehemence. In northern France at the close of 1918 certain acrimony were inflamed almost to the point of open hostility between Americans and Englishmen—Welshmen and Australians—Canadians and Frenchmen. The partisans shows a strange similarity in one particular. Without exception they always claimed that they alone were the fair-haired boys. Among the sober-minded of all nationalities the absurdity of this bickering was recognized; but there was plenty of it.

But no Japanese ever claims that his country won the war. He never points to his country's army, or navy, or munition shops as factors indispensable to allied victory.

The Japanese don't even think that they won the war. They know for a fact that they didn't. And this fact apparently worries them as ruin worries ducks.

If there is anything in the world that ranks at zero in importance to the Japanese it is the question of credit for winning the war. We can have it all, if we want it. They don't.

"What do we get out of it?" is all they ask. They don't want the glory; they want the gray—at least, they did until they got it.

We Americans in Lancaster and elsewhere should not blind ourselves to facts. Nations of the world are no more interested in the weal of humanity than they were five years ago. They are interested in their own prosperity—and, perhaps, aggrandizement.

America's altruistic attitude is a noble one. But, all the same, seeing that the world is what it is, let us not junk our navy and disband our army in anticipation of a Utopian epoch which none of this generation will ever live to see.

GOOD ROADS—AND PLENTY OF THEM.

What America needs is unity—not an aggregation of discordant unities. The former means irresistible national strength; the latter stands for perpetuated decrepitude.

If we are to be united we must get to know each other. We must get together—literally—physically. We must increase the means of geographical intercommunication. The railroads can't do everything—a road they certainly don't. The whole country should be a network of well kept highways.

Nearly every man who draws union wages regularly and has an average acquaintance with machinery can afford to buy and maintain a low or medium priced automobile. There are few farmers who can't. The per capita proportion of cars to population is growing so fast that problems of locomotion are rapidly solving themselves. Already we find governors of adjoining states co-operating to promote road building schemes.

No project is more wholesome. No movement shows sounder political judgment. When our 100,000,000 population ceases to be a motley group of disjointed commonwealths, each commonwealth conserving within itself a babel of tongues, dialects, vernaculars and patois, then, and not till then, will we present to the whole world a type of self-dependent nationalism which all will desire to imitate and none will dare assail.

OUTSIDERS.

The performance of the May-Day rioters and the gentlemen who took part in similar festivities on other days have interested certain of the authorities to the point of looking up the antecedents of the participants. The results of the investigations have been kindly made known by judges in whose courts these patriotic celebrants were tried.

And one singular fact predominates. In hardly a single case is the culprit an American citizen. He is nearly always a foreigner who dodged the draft by declaring that he was not naturalized and never meant to be.

Yet they make soap-box orations on political reform. They call us "fellow Americans" and vilify our institutions, of which they know nothing—these Bohunks, and Jazbos, and Blatherskites from central Europe. They don't know whether Lincoln was a man or a name of a breakfast food. Their very efforts to pronounce our language sound like a harelipped man gargling machine oil.

The mildness of our immigration laws has cursed us with an inundation of undesirables who attribute their own continued failures to political conditions in the land of their birth. If conditions at home were wrong, why did they not put them right? If their kings were tyrannical, why did they not depose them, or limit their authority?

The sturdy French and English do not come fleeing to this country to escape from despotic government at home. They had backbone enough to eliminate defective features in their constitutions without wrecking economic structures and precipitating universal poverty. Stricter immigration laws are needed to exclude the element that accomplished nothing reformatory in Europe and creates nothing progressive here.

GRADUATION.

At the end of May and during the month of June the schools of our land are turning out thousands of boys and girls who have completed the courses assigned.

Each of these young people is prepared in a great measure for life. They may complete their school at this point, or may go on to college. In either event, each has received a valuable education from books and teachers, and one equally valuable from the association with other pupils, on the playground and after school hours.

The boys and girls have worked hard to complete their work and attain to graduation. Schools and communities are right in recognizing graduation as an event of importance. It is well to make the graduation day one that will leave a delightful impression in the heart of every student.

Then let us realize that the girls are entitled to their pretty white dresses and flowers, and that every arrangement which can make the day distinctive and pleasant should be encouraged.

The older people of the town should show their interest by attendance at the exercises if possible.

Don't forget that these thoughtful and happy boys and girls are the citizens of the future, who will in course of time take our places in the community. Help to make their graduation day a little triumph for each of them.

King Swope, the republican "boy orator", who practices law in Lexington, and runs for office in Danville, got the Lexington convention delegates to endorse him for Congress in the Eighth District. If he runs, and he wants to, he will have to go against Judge Charles A. Hardin, on August 2, and that will be a democratic day around the polls all over the Eighth District as well as all over Kentucky. Hardin's majority over Swope or any other republican in such an election, will naturally be not only an increase of, but several times as big as the democratic majority in this district was last November, which would be mighty cheering news to democrats in state and nation this fall and next fall as well. A few wise acres in the republican ranks see the futility and danger of Swope's plans and are trying to head him off. Another bunch that are against his "making a monkey of himself" are the boys who think there is going to be a republican president two years from now; who expect to get the post offices, etc., in this district, and who will want to be recommended therefor by a republican "referee" who will not have already made himself and therefore them, "PERSONALLY OBNOXIOUS" to the democratic congressman and his democratic friends in the Senate.—Shelbyville Record.

No matter the toil and the travail of the day, if, at its close, we can settle down in a quiet corner with our favorite volume, care and fatigue drop from us as a discarded garment and consolation is always found.

Retaining Youthfulness.

A man who believes that environment saves thousands of lives said to me recently, "Oh, yes, every man is influenced by his environment. I always associate with men who are young, full of enthusiasm, determined to succeed, and who feel that there is no difficulty that is too great for them to surmount. It keeps me youthful. It prolongs my life. Whenever I am in their presence I feel a tremendous amount of enthusiasm, a wonderful rest for living."—Fern Howard.

The District meeting of the Federation of the Women's Club convenes here today, the meeting being held at the High School Building.

The district is composed of the counties of Lincoln, Mercer, Boyle, Madison and Rockcastle.

There are many delegates from each of these counties and the program as arranged will be an interesting one. The session will only last for the day and the public is cordially invited to be present.

We hope to give in detail the entire program in our next issue and a list of the delegates attending, something we were unable to give at this time before going to press.

Red Cross Notes.

The Garrard County Red Cross Chapter finished last week, the Spring quota of sewing, 1000 childrens petticoats. All these garments have been made in ten weeks and the Red Cross wishes to thank every woman who assisted in this rush order. Both Auxiliaries, Paint Lick and Bryantsville did their part as they always have done. The women from Fair View, Pleasant Grove, Buckeye and Buena Vista gave splendid assistance also. 393 garments have been shipped. Seven garments have not yet been sent in, but we hope to receive them in a few days and will mail them at once to Cleveland. The Committee wishes to thank the Citizens Bank for the use of their room where we have served for 18 months, also to owners of sewing machines who most generously loaned their machines for so many months. The Work Rooms will be closed for the summer.

The following is list of work sent from the Red Cross Work rooms since January 1st, 1919.

- 196 pairs of Mens socks.
- 34 pairs Childrens stockings.
- 8 shawls.
- 51 mufflers.

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ill-afflicted people today can be traced back to kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters, the purifiers, of your blood.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pain in legs and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatitis and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals to warn you that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammation and destroys the germs which have caused it. Do not wait until tomorrow. Go to your druggist today and insist on GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning and will bless the day you first heard of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil.

After you feel that you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep in first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you.

The Exiles

By GEORGE ELMER COBB

Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.

The young man driving the automobile along the lonely country road was in harmony as to face, attire and spirit with the beauty of a rare spring morning. He was Norman Reed. At Eldene, twenty miles to the north, was the plant of the Warren Machinery company. Twenty miles across to the south at a thriving inland city were the offices of the corporation, which his father practically owned.

Norman whistled cheerily as the high-powered machine progressed without squeak or jar.

There was a unadorned road from city to plant, but this especial morning Norman had tried a short cut along a lonely road. Not a house showed in the first five miles, and it was only when he passed a belt of woods that he noticed a dilapidated cabin nestled in its depths.

There was a pretty flower patch in front of it, and vines were festooned over the small porch. Norman wondered what could have induced anyone to select that lonely spot for a home. Abruptly he noticed a vague speeding object dash from the wild shrubbery. Before Norman could distinguish it clearly it disappeared under the machine and a thrilling scream rang out: "Oh, stop! stop! he is killed!"

The accents were feminine. A girlish form came into view. Norman halted the auto promptly, springing from his seat and saw a dog lying in the middle of the road. The animal held up a lacerated, bleeding paw and whined in pain. Norman bent over, gently examined the wounded foot and lifted the animal in his arms.

"A lucky escape," he spoke, and turned to face a young girl with blood-stained face and distended eyes. "Don't worry, miss," he continued, "the poor animal is not seriously hurt. Is it yours?"

"Oh, yes, indeed!" thithered the possessor of the fair face as Norman's eyes had ever rested on. "It is our Ponto. Won't you please carry him to the house where I can attend to him?"

It was thus that Norman Reed met the lovely girl and his fate at one and the same time. As he approached the house he noticed an old man stealthily draw back into an old shed. Norman called for handlages. Ponto seemed to comprehend that he was in the care of a humane friend. At the end of five minutes Norman lifted the grateful animal to a pillow the girl had placed on a bench, and said:

"Your pet will fare quite well after a day or two of nursing. I will drive by tomorrow and bring you a famous curative canine lotion that will help out."

Thenceforward Norman Reed seemed to have a new motive in life. Three times a week he visited the plant and always returned by the dirt road. Three times a week he halted at the little out-of-the-way house in the woods, ostensibly to see how Ponto was getting along, but in reality to feast his eyes on the animal's mistress, who attracted him with an increasing interest.

He learned that her name was Charlie. She gave no other, and as Norman noted that the old man, presumably her father, made it a point to keep out of view during his visits, he decided that there was some mysterious reason for these two isolating themselves from the rest of the world.

Ponto got well, and at every new visit Norman lingered longer than at the preceding one. A month passed by and Charlie began to look longingly for the appearance of her welcome visitor. One afternoon she was amazed to see Ponto come running down the road. The intelligent animal was panting and excited. He dropped a long fat wallet at the feet of Charlie. He looked at her beseechingly, as though striving to tell her something. He ran down the road a way and looked back at her. Charlie followed him.

It was to find Norman lying back in the automobile, bleeding and insensible. Charlie had learned to direct the car and she soon had the machine up to the house. With the aid of her father, she carried him into the house. Norman regained his senses to inform her that he had been assaulted by a footpad, had thrown the wallet containing a large amount of money to Ponto, and the well-trained animal had run off with it, as Norman hoped he would do.

Norman was unable to proceed on his way and asked Charlie to get word to his father. She hurried to the North settlement and a few hours later Mr. Reed appeared. He was made aware of the situation and thanked Charlie for her services and those of the quick-witted Ponto. When he observed the father of Charlie he gave a violent start.

"John Borden!" he exclaimed, "my old bookkeeper!"

Then was uncovered the mystery of the isolation of father and daughter. Ten years before Borden, after collecting a large amount of bills for his employer, found that he had lost over two thousand dollars. Fearing his story would not be credited, he had resolved to disappear.

No one had ever thought of accusing Borden of theft, for the money had been found and returned to his employer.

When Norman and Charlie went on their wedding tour it was with the sincere blessing of two old men, contented in realizing the full happiness of son and daughter.

PROGRESS MADE IN GARDEN WORK.

Retired Farmer Resumes Home Duties After Using Trutona A Week.

Owensboro, Ky., May 21st, 1919.
"I'm able to get out in the garden and work, now—the first work I've done in four months", Walter Samuels, a well known retired farmer residing at 1310 Hathaway street, Owensboro, said recently. Mr. Samuels has been a resident of Owensboro for the past 14 years.

"Work's really a pleasure for me, since I've taken Trutona", he continued. "I was suffering from muscular rheumatism. My hands and limbs would swell so badly I couldn't do anything. I also suffered severe pains in my spinal column and chest. My appetite—why, I didn't eat hardly enough to keep me alive."

"One week ago I was suffering untold agony, but today I feel better than I have in years and Trutona's the reason. The swelling has left my hands and limbs. The pains in my chest have ceased to bother me, too. My appetite is improved, also. I've spent $1000 trying to get relief but Trutona has done more for me than all the rest put together. I'm sure Trutona will do the same for others suffering as I did."

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Lancaster at R. E. McROBERTS DRUG STORE.

TOO MUCH SALT.

Cows Lick Whitewash From Fences; One Deserts Home.

J. L. Hamilton, who owns forty cows and operates a dairy farm near town, has suffered an unusual misfortune.

Monday, with the help of his five hired men, he whitewashed the big board fences surrounding the lot in which his cows are corralled each night. Into the whitewash he had put a large quantity of salt to harden the liquid after its application.

This is often done, but the trouble on this occasion was that Mr. Hamilton used entirely too much salt, a blunder which did not affect unfavorably the quality of the whitewash, but one which afterwards proved to be very costly in an unexpected way.

In some respects Mr. Hamilton is a little careless. He admits that he hadn't salted his cows for nearly two years. His herd, therefore, was almost wild for this necessary mineral requirement of the bovine nature.

Cows Attack Fences.

Late that night Mr. Hamilton turned his cows into the lot as usual and retired for the night. The animals soon scented the salt and it wasn't long before the entire herd eagerly attacked the fence with their tongues.

Before the dawn of another day every particle of the briny whitewash had been licked off the fence. Even whole boards were licked away in some places, while in others immense holes had been worn through the soft planks by the rasping action of the harsh tongues, energetically applied throughout the night.

When Mr. Hamilton arose next morning his gaze fell upon a singular spectacle of turbulence and ruin. His cows were full of salt and lime and bawling for water. Some of them, with open mouths burrowing in the dust, were casting dirt into the air with their front feet.

"Mandy" Leaves Home.

A certain cow named Mandy, apparently in more poignant distress than the others, had broken through the fence into an adjoining lot, where she drank so much water that her size was suddenly increased to elephantine proportions. Her respiration became labored and wheezy.

With head and tail aloft and eyes gleaming, she suddenly bolted, sweeping aside or leaping over every barrier, and was soon afterwards heard of a mile and a half beyond Stanford.

Mr. Hamilton at once dispatched a man on a horse in pursuit with instructions to overtake and bring Mandy back at all hazards. Two days have passed and she hasn't yet been recovered, but a late message from the horseman states that the trail is "very hot".

Exactly how to restore his rebellious cows to a calm and normal state was for Mr. Hamilton a problem of some difficulty. A solution was found in feeding them warm gruel made of wheat bran and by permitting them to drink only small quantities of water at a time. Through this treatment, continued for two days, the herd was quickly pacified and is now in the soothing embrace of a profound contentment.

Milk Unfit For Use.

The situation was complicated by the discovery that milk from these cows was so impregnated with an alkali saline flavor as to be unfit for human use. For this reason Mr. Hamilton has been compelled to throw away 190 pounds of butter and to give to his hogs 600 gallons of the affected milk. Moreover, he has temporarily cancelled his contract to supply two Louisville hotels with milk and butter.

Dizzy—Wrecked His Automobile.

"Two years ago my stomach trouble got so bad that I was almost constantly filled with gas. This made me very dizzy at times. Last Fall I was almost overcome by one of these dizzy spells while driving my car, and ran it into a telephone pole, badly wrecking the car. A friend recommended Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for my trouble. Since taking the first dose I have steadily improved, and feel better now than ever in my life". It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. R. E. McROBERTS, Druggist, Lancaster, Ky.

PROTECTION OF FEEDER HOGS

Department of Agriculture Conducts System of Vaccination Against Hog Cholera.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

In an effort to protect the swine industry of the country against the possibility of introducing sick hogs into well herds, and at the same time to permit the shipment from stock yards of stocker and feeder hogs, the United States department of agriculture conducts a system of vaccination against cholera as a part of its inspection service at the various stock yard centers. More than 321,000 hogs were vaccinated for shipment as stockers and feeders from stock yards of 18 cities during the six months from July to December, 1918, inclusive. To accomplish this without spreading disease, in the face of all the attendant dangers, required, of course, such close care that the wisdom of some phases of the inspection system may not have been always apparent to all concerned.

With swine moving by railroads and trainloads from producing areas into public stock yards of the country, says the statement, the pens of such yards are inevitably infected with the common swine diseases, of which cholera is the most important. Owing to this condition federal regulations formerly required the slaughter of swine received, but after the serum and virus treatment against hog cholera was standardized the possibility of reshipping immature hogs for further feeding resulted in a modification of the rules. Under the plan now in force swine properly vaccinated and disinfected may be reshipped for any purpose, including breeding.

Immunizing hogs against cholera is a veterinary procedure, including the preventive-serum treatment, taking of temperatures and observing the condition of the animal during the test period. Necessarily the official regulations are of technical character, and it has come to the attention of the department of agriculture that in some cases the rules have been misinterpreted so as to make them appear responsible for fluctuation in the stock-hog market.

For the information of the public, the bureau of animal industry outlines briefly the method of inspection:

All public stock yards are considered to be infected and swine are, therefore, exposed to the contagion from the time of their entry into the yards; consequently it is important that they be immunized promptly after arrival at such yards, to protect them against contracting the disease.

For that reason the department opposes the immunization of swine that have been so exposed for more than five days. Hogs, though they may not show physical symptoms of cholera, may in some instances be affected with the disease to such an extent that immunization will not protect them.

It is not permissible to immunize swine for immediate shipment interstate if they show symptoms of contagious or infectious disease.

If a considerable percentage of the animals in a lot is found to have high temperatures, the possible presence of such disease is indicated and the animals are not immunized or permitted to be shipped interstate. It is possible to have hogs with high temperatures as a result of conditions surrounding the shipment to market, in which case they will return to normal within a short time.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Start training the colt early.

A farrowing rail in the pen is a good thing to protect the young pigs.

Pigs will die if allowed access to their dams after weaning. The old milk is poisonous.

Until the lambs are about three weeks old they should be fed four times daily, one-half pint of milk being given each lamb at each feed.

'T B' Stock goes South.

Tennessee purchasers of dairy cattle have lately found that many animals from a recent shipment from Illinois have tuberculosis. Three carloads tested by inspectors of the Tennessee Department of Agriculture and the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry showed from 50 to 90 per cent of the animals with "T B". Pending the outcome of a searching investigation by the Bureau of Animal Industry, persons about to buy stock, especially dairy stock, are cautioned to be certain what they are buying and from whom they are buying.

Save Million Dollars.

If the roosters in Kentucky are swatted or separated from the hens as soon as the hatching season is over, the State will save at least a million cool dollars. Every egg is a good egg when it is laid; but seventeen out of every hundred are bad eggs when they reach the market. Most of these seventeen eggs spoil because they are fertile. Without the roosters in the flocks there will be just as many eggs this summer; but they will be infertile and they will not spoil quickly. The roosters should go during Rooster Week, June 2nd to 7th. The editor hopes that every farmer's wife who reads this will swat the rooster or have him penned up for the summer to help the State save a million dollars.

Sale Attracts Crowd.

A large and representative crowd of farmers and stock growers from fourteen counties, attended the silage-test cattle sale at the Experiment Station at Lexington, May 12th. Keen interest was shown in this second year of testing the relative feeding value of corn silage and sorghum silage. Two pens of 10 steers each were fed 150 days in the test, just closed. Each lot received exactly ration. The only difference in feeding was that one lot was fed corn silage and the other was fed sorghum silage. Another year's feeding will complete this most interesting test which has shown so far the high feeding value of sorghum silage as compared with corn silage. The 20 steers sold under the hammer for $16.25 per hundred.

Showing the World What 600,000 Owners Know

A stock Model 90 Overland touring car again proved its stamina by smashing completely the world's non-stop high gear record. This test was made in Oklahoma.

The car was sealed in high gear and the shift lever was removed. Not once was there the slightest mechanical trouble, the least hesitation, or the faintest break in the smooth, even action of the Overland motor.

This standard car is an exact duplicate of the Model 90 we will be glad to show you.

SERIOUS CHARGE

C. E. Remley's Trial Set For Thursday.

C. E. Remley, aged 22, was arrested in Lexington, Saturday, at his home on Ashland avenue, by Deputy Fire Marshal Ben Freckman, of that city, on a charge of setting fire to the warehouse of C. T. Ashley, which was destroyed by fire at the Southern depot in Nicholasville, Wednesday night May 7th, between 11 and 12 o'clock. Remley was brought to Nicholasville and gave bond for his appearance before the county court Friday for examination. The bond was fixed at $1,500 and his father-in-law, W. L. Glass, signed the bond. The accused formerly lived at Camp Nelson, but moved to Lexington a few months ago. Remley claims he is not guilty of the charge and that he will prove his innocence at the proper time.

In the warehouse was a large amount of baled straw and hay, barley, oats and sacks which belonged to the C. T. Ashley Co. There was also in the warehouse about 1,000 bushels of hemp seed which belonged to W. L. Glass, father-in-law of Mr. Remley. The loss on the warehouse and contents is about $18,000. Mr. Glass had $7,000 insurance on the hemp seed. Mr. Ashley had $2,000 insurance on the building, which was worth about $6,000.---Jessamine Journal.
